BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Regular Meeting Held Last Night.

THREE NEW TEACHERS ELECTED TO FILL VACANCIES.

A Move to Dismiss All the Janitors Defeated. Other Important Business.

Board Of Education.

The gavel sounded at twenty minutes to nine o'clock when the clerk called the roll and all the Directors answered to their names. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The contract for painting the Kellogg school was reported by the committee to have been let for $75 and the San Pablo school for $56.

In the Lorin school six rooms were kalsomined and tinted at a cost of about $66.

The Committee on Course of Study reported that it had adopted "New Essentials of Bookkeeping" by Childs for the Ninth grade.

In a communication Miss Wilson asked for a leave of absence for three months with a privilege of extending it to six months. It was granted.

Miss Olive A. Squires tendered her resignation. It was accepted and a vote of thanks was ordered to be given her for the good service she had rendered while in the department.

Miss Alice A. Raymond tendered her resignation from the department. In accepting it the Board also gave a vote of thanks.

The next communication read was from sanitary inspector F. B. Thompson and was very attentively listened to on account of public attention having been drawn to the plumbing in the Kellogg school by the GAZETTE. As will be seen by the report this paper stated the facts correctly although the inspector's report is still more in detail.

Before taking definite action upon the Sanitary Inspector's report a communication was read from Health Officer Hubert N. Rowell who upon being called upon after the report was read said that he was not here for the purpose of creating any unnecessary alarm. We have gone through three schools at the West End and found them in fair order. The schools and yards were kept in as good a condition as it was possible for the janitors to keep them But the buildings and fittings were of an old type and might have been good twenty years ago. The closets are in bad condition.

The condition of the Kellogg school was discovered by an accident. The facts have already been published. It is the fault of no one, it comes from age. There has been some cases of tonsilitis. There has been no good opportunity to bring out these matters until now. In making the repairs will it pay to do patchwork? Will it not be better to do the work well.

The Kellogg school is filthy. We have furnished deoderizers but they do not go far. We have asked for as little as we can get along with to prevent epidemics.

The State Board has taken me to task for not vaccinating the pupils. There is a State law which requires it although it has been stated that it is not required.

The sore eye question must be taken notice of. One case is certainly by infection. The school roller should be done away with. If time allowed I would speak of the drinking cup.

Director Robertson said that something should be done immediately and President Boone endorsed his conclusions. Director Norton asked if the Lorin school was not good enough to get along with. Dr. Rowell said he had not had the opportunity to make a thorough examination of the building and in the absence of a report from the Sanitary Inspector would not like to make any answer. All of the rest of the schools would be examined carefully and a full report would be made.

Director Niehaus said that a set of plans and specifications for repairs necessary should be made. Inspector Thompson said that he would make the specifications in one day.

At this point a recess of five minutes was taken to give the Committee on School Houses and Sites an opportunity to confer with the Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector concerning what measures it would be best to adopt. On reassembling of the Board the matter was referred to the Committee of the School Houses and Sites together with the Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector who were authorized to prepare plans and specifications and advertise for bids to be presented to the Board at an adjourned meeting to be held next Monday evening.

The questions of vaccination and use of towels then came up and the Clerk was requested to get an opinion from Town Attorney Hayne as to the law in relation to vaccination. As that officer was away on a vacation it was thought best for the principals of the different schools to find out how many of the children had been vaccinated.

A motion was made and carried that the Board would discontinue the further furnishing of towels. The Health Officer was asked to furnish a proper circular to be distributed among the pupils. This the Board would have printed. Dr. Rowell stated that he would cheerfully do so and anything else to further the good health of the children.

The Town Attorney Hayne's opinion on the salary question was read as follows:

TOWN ATTORNEY HAYNE'S OPINION.

Gentlemen:—You have referred to me the question whether a teacher elected by your Board, services to end June 30th of the ensuing year, can legally claim salary for what is usually known as the vacation months.

What is usually known as the vacation pay is really only a distributive share of the annual salary over the vacation months for services rendered during the term. If, for example, the pay is $1000 per year, instead of paying each month during the term, the salary is divided into twelve parts and the vacation months are paid for nominally, but in fact the pay of those months is for services rendered during each term.

The contract, in the present, cases are entirely silent on the question of compensation; and, therefore, I am in the dark as to how the salary is to be distributed. From the contract it appears that no more services were to be rendered after June 30th, and at that date the position became vacant.

If the compensation under the rules and resolutions of the Board were paid in installments of such amounts as to represent a monthly quotient of the total salary taking in consideration the vacation month, then, of course, pay should be given for the vacation month otherwise not. There is nothing in the Statute requiring Boards of Education to make contracts ending on June 30th and not later. That requirement applies only to Boards of School Trustees.

Respectfully,
BREWTON A. HAYNE

Clerk Hanscom stated that an additional policy of $1000 had been placed upon the Lorin school buildings. This would make $9300 on the buildings and $700 on the foundation.

A bid of $21 was received from H. J. Hughes for whitewashing. This was referred to the Committee on School Houses and Sites with power to act.

Applications for positions in the department were received as follows: For Teachers, Geo. T. Hanscom, Miss Bertha Said, Miss Nettie F. Miller and Minnie E. Anthony. For Janitors, C. Aitken and George W. Menefee.

An election of teachers was then gone into, their being three vacancies in the regular and one in the substitute class. The following regulars were elected: Miss Rebecca Fox, Miss Susan M. Hall and Miss Della Larson. Mrs. Kemble was elected as a substitute teacher in place of Miss Nelson, who had been granted a leave of absence.

A motion made to declare the positions of all janitors vacant was lost as was a motion to declare the janitorship of the High school vacant.

President Boone stated that the janitorship of the High school had not been satisfactory. Some complaints had been made. Of late there has been an improvement. Promises had been made that matters would be better in the future. I cast no reflections nor do I want any one to loose a position. I will give a further trial. Janitors hold their position at the pleasure of the Board and can be dropped at any time.

The matter of fixing a time when the contracts of the teachers should commence and end was not finally agreed upon but allowed to go over until a later date.

On motion the Board adjourned to meet on next Monday evening.

OFFICER'S REPORT

Very Interesting Reading For Berkeleyites.

THE "GAZETTE" QUOTED FOR PUBLISHING THE TRUTH

Health Officer Rowell And Sanitary Inspector Thompson's Reports To The Point.

Officers' Reports.

Berkeley, July 20.—To the Honorable Board of Education, Gentlemen: Our Sanitary Inspector will present this evening a full report of inspection at my instance of certain schools under your jurisdiction and will make certain recommendations for the improvement of the sanitary conditions of the same.

This work has been deferred until this, its vacation period, for obvious reasons.

The suggestions are offered not for the purpose of creating unnecessary alarm upon the part of yourselves or parents, but to the end that the good health which has favored the children in the past may be continued under improved sanitary regulation at the hands of you gentlemen whom we recognize as guardians of the pupils of the schools.

In this connection I beg leave to remind you that under the school laws of the State of California, all children attending the public schools must be vaccinated. This is not optional with us, but a law which the State Board of Health insist upon enforcing. I would recommend therefore that your Honorable Board apprise the heads of the various schools, and deny admittance to all such pupils who cannot furnish satisfactory proof of vaccination at the beginning of the coming term.

There is at present in the 5th Ward an epidemic of sore eyes otherwise known as apthelonia, which is exceedingly contagious. There can be no doubt to its danger of this trouble spreading throughout the schools unless something be done toward abating the filthy and dangerous practice of using school towels. I would suggest that for the present at least each pupil be obliged to provide his own towel or napkin. Respectfully,

H. N. ROWELL, Health Officer.

REPORT OF SUPPLY COMMITTEE.

The bids for school desks and other furniture are still in hand for future report.

SANITARY INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

Gentlemen—By instruction of the Health Officer, I have inspected the plumbing and drainage of the following schools viz-7th Primary, San Pablo Avenue and Kellogg, and in neither of these schools do I find any of the plumbing fixtures supplied with a vent pipe nor in some instances even a trap but merely a straight pipe connecting with the sewer.

All fixtures as wash-basins, sinks etc. should be properly trapped and vented. In order to prevent the escape of sewer gas into the building for I believe in all cases this precaution entire classes have of a necessity been disbanded on account of sickness.

In the 7th Street Primary school, I find in the hall two wash basins supplied with traps without vent pipes. Each basin should be vented to the roof the same way as a trap.

The galvanized waste pipe, beneath these basins, should be removed and lead or cast iorn substituted therefor.

In the yard are two sinks adjoining one another with simply a straight pipe leading into the sewer. These should be supplied with traps and also should be vented, or the waste pipe should be so arranged as to empty into a hopper.

In the San Pablo Avenue school I find two sinks on lower floor and one on upper floor. These are all trapped but have no vent pipes and these should be at once supplied.

The plumbing under the building is perfect.

In no school do we find such a deplorable condition of afairs as in the Kellogg school. Here the state of affairs is such that little short of a general over hauling can accomplish much of permanent benefit.

Some of the sinks or basins in the center of the building have only a straight pipe connecting with a sheet-iorn waste pipe connecting with the sewer, discharges its contents on the ground, beneath the class rooms. The waste pipe beneath the room is of sheet iron partly corroded.

All waste pipes beneath the building should be of cast iron.

I would further recommend that the Kellogg school be supplied with a new sewer, this to be connected into Allston way in order to take in the chemical labratory and the other small buildings in the rear.

The present sewer is an exceedingly poor one, full of holes beneath the building, and has been chocked on several occasions.

The wash sinks lined with zinc and sheet iron should be replaced by sinks of enameled metal which are the only clean and sanitary sinks in use at present.

This point should apply to all the schools.

The urinals in the three schools I find to be simply wooden troughs, zinc-lined in some cases, but in the San Pablo school it is merely of wood. Such are bound to become corroded and foul-smelling with the best of care, and in the case of the Kellogg school, we stopped the replacement of such a device until your honorable Board should be advised of its filth and danger to health.

I recommend that they be replaced by urinals of enamaled iron with a floor beneath of cement.

The closets in vague in your school are of the cement vault pattern. These should be replaced by automatic wash-out closets, properly trapped and vented.

The foregoing is a report of but three schools. The remaining six will be reported at your next meeting.

The suggestions offerred are not made in a spirit of captious criticism, but to apprise you of the real condition of affairs which in a town of the size of Berkeley should be improved to the highest standard of excellence.

Very respectfully,
FRANK B. THOMPSON,
Sanitary Inspector

A TIN WEDDING

Celebrated By Dr. Hutton And His Wife.

AT THEIR RESIDENCE ON DWIGHT WAY

An Evening of Mirth and Glee Indulged In by Themselves and Friends

Tin Wedding.

There was music in the air last evening and it vibrated pleasantly about the southeast corner of Ellsworth street and Dwight way. When you ask me why, I will answer, I will tell you that it was the tenth anniversary of the wedding day of Dr. John A. D. Hutton and wife.

At about 8:30 o'clock in the evening guests began to assemble in the residence, which had been specially decorated for the purpose. The gardens were highly illuminated with Chinese lanterns, which displayed the flowers and shrubbery to a great advantage

Mr. Henry W. Allen arranged the whist tables, and games were played for points, the winners to have a prize. Charles H. Spear, our Charles, won the first prize, which was a smoking set, and fitted him like the thick atmosphere about him. A royal worcester vase was the first prize for a lady and was won by Mrs. Van Dyke.

The gentleman's booby prize was secured by W. H. Kerrison, and the lady's booby prize, which was a salt and pepper service set on a tray fell to Mrs. S. Rohrer and Mrs. Allen, who made a tie. This was afterwards decided by cutting the cards for a division of the prize—the salt and pepper set was won by Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Rohrer won the tray.

After the prizes were distributed the gentlemen took their partners and marched out into the garden where an elegant supper had been prepared underneath the bower of flowers. Speeches adapted to the surrounding circumstances were made in a happy vein by Messrs. Charles H. Spear, Dr. Hutton, Chas. L. Taber, W. H. Kerrison, S. Rohrer and J. C. Wilder.

There was a ring cake and when it was cut it was agreed that the winner should give a dinner. It was in the slice taken by Mrs Allen, who by the way is about moving into her new house thus the "punishment fitted the crime."

After the feast was over the ladies withdrew and the gentlemen enjoyed their cigars while Mr. Rohrer entertained the company by singing the Drinking Song from the "Bandit."

In the meantime the ladies were handsomely entertained by a recitation by Miss Cora Fiske. Finally with many wishes of happiness for the host and hostess the company departed singing "Tell them that you saw me."

Among those present were: J. A. D. Hutton and wife, Mrs. H. Hutton, Cora Fiske, Mrs. Geo. N. Martin, Miss A. Atkinson, Miss L. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke, Mrs. Kistenpatt, S. Rohrer and wife, H. W. Allen and wife, T. Fleming and wife, C. L. Taber and wife, J. C. Wilder and wife, W. H. Kerrison and wife, D. Lawton and wife and Charles H. Spear and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutton were the recipients of many and divers kinds of tin ornaments too numerous to mention.

Cricket at Golden Gate.

There was a large crowd at Golden Gate Sunday Sunday to witness the only cup match of cricket scheduled for the day. The Pacific had a very strong team, including Harold Richardson, with them and the ex-Alameda club man won the game from the Californians off his own bat with the magnificent score of 208, which is now the individual record of the Pacific Coast. Had it not been for Richardson's batting the Pacific might have lost the game as none of the scarlet and blacks classed with the Surrey man from a run-geting point of view. The score was California, 96; Pacific, 343.

GETTING LIVELY.

Votes Coming in, in Lots of a Thousand or More at the Present Time.

On the Home Stretch.

The telephone and telegraph girls realize that they have no time to loose and they are making every day count now in the contest for a two weeks outing at Highland Springs. While they are securing all the coupons that they can, they have turned their attention to securing subscriptions so that the votes will count faster. Miss Brackett sent in two yearly subscriptions today, which advanced her 1000 on the list at once and has given her a good lead. Tomorrow one of the other contestants may advance one or two thousand, or maybe more. The fight will not be won or lost until the last day, and all the candidates have to do is to keep working and put themselves as far ahead as possible. Now is the time to make hay, and a few yearly subscriptions will make a candidates chance very good.

The vote today is as follows:

Lelia C. Brackett, Berkeley	5685
Miss Freda Leuders, Berkeley	4572
Allie L. Cain, Berkeley	2571
Miss Francis Bryan, Oakland	801
Miss Nanette Rothblum, Alameda	1

More Trouble for Mr. Woods.

Mrs. Dr. Woods, who gained much notoriety last week by cowhiding her divorced husband and afterward threatening to shoot him, has prepared a petition asking him to turn over to her the house in which he resides.

Mrs. Dr. Woods claims that the house was purchased with her earnings, and is asking residents of South Berkeley to sign her strange petition.

Dr. O'Neill, a resident of Ashby avenue, says that the angry woman has also threatened to shoot him, holding him responsible in some way for her troubles.

Col. A. B. Paris, of San Bernardino, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, was visiting friends in Berkeley yesterday.

The West Berkeley Populist club will hold its regular meeting this evening at its rooms on University avenue near Fifth street.

Beacon Engine Company will hold its regular meeting this evening for the purpose of electing delegates to the Firemen's Convention which will be held on next Friday evening.

W. J. Schmidt commenced threshing barley to-day. There will probably be 1500 sacks in the lot has begun on. This is pretty good for Berkeley.

Ticket for the benefit of the West Berkeley Athletic Club are selling very rapidly. The entertainment which is for a good cause will be given on next Saturday evening at Sistema Hall, and will be one of the very best entertainments that has ever been given in Berkeley.

Complaint is being made that persons are engaged in digging up plants from various flower gardens at night. Some very valuable plants have been stolen from the garden of Dr. O'Toole of North Berkeley, of late. This sort of stealing occurs every year at about this time and if the thieves are caught they should be severely dealt with.

Board and Rooms.

Good family board and rooms, No. 2440 Hilgard Avenue corner of Euclid Avenue, washing and lights included, use of parlor and piano free. Locality picturesque, healthful and quiet. Rates very reasonable.

END OF A ROMANCE.

Fred Adams an Oakland High Roller

DECLARED INCOMPETENT TO COMMIT MATRIMONY.

The End of the Romance.

Fred Staurt Adams, the young scion of the wealthy house of the late John Adams of Oakland, is no longer the husband of the dashing brunette, Mrs. J. Isabelle Potter Adams, with whom he eloped a year ago. The couple were secretly married at Martinez. She is said to be $5,000 better off for her matrimonial experience. Mrs. Adams compromised yesterday the suit brought by her husband's relatives for the annullment of the marriage. After a very brief trail before Judge Frick of Oakland the marriage was annulled by the court upon the ground that young Adams was mentally incompetent at the time of his wedding.

There were only three witnesses examined. One of these was the plaintiff. James C. Adams and John E. Adams furnished the proof as to their brother's mental condition.

Fred Adams told Judge Frick that he had met Miss Isabelle Potter on July 13, 1895 while he was attending a private school in Alameda. It was a case of love at first sight. Two weeks later young Adams and Miss Potter were speeding toward Martinez, where the boy made oath that he was twenty-one years old, and thereby procured the necessary marriage license from the County Clerk. As a matter of fact, he testified yesterday, he was within a year of attaining his majority when he commited matrimony. The witness did pot go into details as to his acquaintance with Miss Potter. All the spice of the little romance was very carefully excluded from the narrative.

James and John Adams testified as to their belief in the young man's mental incapacity, and there the case rested. There was no cross-examination nor any evidence presented for the defense. Judge Frick signed the decree which had been prepared, and that ended the sensation of a year in Oakland society circles.

The sudden disposition of the case was understood to be due to the efforts of the attorneys to prevent further scandal. Fred Adams is the youngest member of his family, and he has a pro rata share in the fortune left by his father, which is estimated to be worth several hundred thousand dollars. He first met Miss Potter at a society function, and the acquaintance culminated in the Martinez marriage. There was a great stir in the Adams family when the fact became known. James Adams was appointed guardian of his brother, and steps were taken at once to have the marriage annulled. Mrs Adams responded to the attack by a vigorous answer and other preliminary skirmishing followed, the case reached a point where it was ready for trial. It is said that the Adams family made a financial settlement with Mrs. Adams and induced her to withdraw.

High School Board.

All of the directors were present in the Town Hall when the roll was called. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The Classification Committee reported that the teachers would keep their present positions, Miss Graser to be assigned to teaching German in the High school at a salary of $500 per year divided in twelve equal installments. There being no other business the Board adjourned.

In an article on Dr. Rulledge's drug store it was stated through a typographical error that it had been in existence 2 years when it should have been 12 years. Everybody in Berkeley knew the fact but people far away could not have been aware of it, hence we make the correction.

The Columbia Fire Engine Company will hold a special meeting on Wednesday evening. As important matters will come up all members are requested to be present.

THE LOST IS FOUND.

Harvey Waterbury Finds the Horse That Was Taken From Him.

Very Suspicious.

Last evening a man coming from Oakland to Waterbury's barn, and informed the man in charge that the horse that had been hired a couple of days previous from him together with the buggy was in a blacksmith shop in Oakland where it had been ever since last Saturday. He said that the man who hired the team was a relation of the blacksmith at whose shop the horse and buggy now was.

He told Waterbury's man that the party who took the buggy had gone away for a week and at the end of that time he would call upon Mr. Waterbury and straighten matters out. Harvey dont take much stock in the story and will probably make it pretty warm for Mr. Coventry before he is through with him.

Court University.

Court University, Ancient Order of Foresters, No. 7915 had an installation of officers and a banquet last evening. The following officers were installed; C. R., Samuel Morehead; Sub. C. R., Harry Jewett; Treasurer, Robert Beakley; Financial Secretary, Thomas H. Chase; Recording Secretary, Robert Acton; Senior Woodward, F. C. Richter; Junior Woodward, C. Harder, Senior Beadle, J. M. Lloyd; Junior Beadle, Louis Girginia. The officers were installed by High Court Deputies McCracken, of Court Advocate, Oakland, and Howard Logan of Court University Berkeley.

There was a good attendance of the members as well as visitors from surrounding towns. After the routine business was completed all set down to well furnished and handsomely decorated banquet board. Speeches were made by members and visiting brothers for the good of the order.

A WORTHY CANDIDATE.

With this issue of the GAZETTE we present the name of a gentleman whom we believe will represent a goodly portion of Berkeley in the Board of Supervisors during the next four years beginning on January 1st.

The gentleman is to all intents a Berkeley man as Berkeley was the first place that he resided after leaving New Hampshire for California in 1876.

Mr. John Mitchell the gentleman we refer to was quite a young man when he arrived in Berkeley, and he at once went to work for our old fellow townsman D. R. Wentworth to learn the shoe and leather business, which he learned thoroughly as he could not do otherwise under such a thorough teacher. Nine years ago he established himself in the leather business in Oakland, where he has resided ever since, doing a fine business and winning the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact.

During his residence in Berkeley he was always looked upon as a model and upright young man and in 1881 he won for his bride one of Berkeley's fairest daughters with whom he has ever lived pleasantly with and now has a family of four bright children.

He did not at first desire to run for the office of Supervisor, and it was not until after he had been requested to do so by citizens from all over the 5th Supervisoral district, that he consented to allow his name to be used. Now that he is in the fight he is determined to win, as in all of his career he has never known such a word as fail, and he does not propose to learn its meaning at this late day and his friends who are legion will see that he not only receives the Republican nomination, but that he will also receive the election.

The people of Berkeley are proud of Mr. Mitchell, they have known him from boyhood up and have watched his course with a great deal of satisfaction, and they will almost to a man cast their votes in his favor for Supervisor, for they know that he will be true to the interests of Berkeley and to the whole county if he is elected a member of the Board of Supervisors.

Nearly every man who rides a bicycle is in favor of Mr. Mitchell for he is a crank on the matter of good roads and if elected will devote a good portion of his time in providing good roads for this county. He does not believe in patchwork but will advocate the paving and macadamizing of such portions of Telegraph, San Pablo, Shattuck avenues and Adeline street, as are outside of the incorporated cities of Oakland and Berkeley thus making drives that will be the pride of the whole county.

Mr. Mitchell is a young man of fine physical proportions and good address. He is a ready speaker and a hard student. He has served his party during the past two years as County Committeeman and only resigned to become a candidate for Supervisor.

He has resided in the Fifth Supervisoral District which takes in all of Lorin, South Berkeley, part of the Third Ward in the neighborhood of Dwight Way, part of first ward and all of the sixth and seventh wards of Berkeley; also Temescal, the second and first wards of Oakland, and Golden Gate for nineteen years, and he is probably better posted as to its needs than any candidate who will be in the field.

The GAZETTE feels that he is to all intents and purposes a Berkeley man, and knowing his great popularity among our people, and his fitness for the office of Supervisor, that it unhesitatingly endorses his candidacy and will be found in line early and late working for his success.

The high estimation in which Mr. Mitchell is held where he resides and the esteem and respect that he commands in Berkeley, his first residing place in the State and from where he wooed and won his most estimable wife is a recommendation that any man might be proud of and is a sure indication that he will be successful in his candidacy for Supervisor.

IN A BAD BOX.

The Populists are now placed in a very peculiar position. The Democrats Convention held at Chicago stole their platform and now want to steal their party, and to their shame be it said that there are a great many Populists delegates now at St. Louis who are willing and ready to deliver over their party and its principles to the party that they have denounced ever since the Peoples party came into existence. On the other hand there are a large number of Populist delegates who are true to the principles of their party and they will never surrender, but it is thought that they will be in the minority and that the majority will swallow Byran and Sewall without making a single face.

In this event the loyal Populists, or the Middle of the Road Populists, as they are called declare that they will bolt the convention and hold another at which they will nominate an avowed Populist for President, and an avowed Populist for Vice President. Among the delegates who have thus declared against the endorsement or nomination of Bryan are the thirty-nine delegates from California. The delegates from Maine the Democratic nominee for Vice President's State declare that Sewall cannot get a corporals vote in his own State and that they will not have anything to do with his nomination or endorsement. Thus the matter stands. The convention will be called to order tomorrow and, as there are but a couple of contesting delegations the organization will be quickly made, and the labors of the convention will in all probability be concluded by Wednesday evening.

A perusal of the report of Frank P. Thompson, Sanitary Inspector, which appears in another column, in reference to the condition in which he found the Kellogg school, will enlighten the people of Berkeley and will also demonstrate that the GAZETTE did not exaggerate in a single particular in its publication of the condition of affairs at the Kellogg school, even though our contemporary declared that it was a sensational report, and all that could be found was the "drippings from a faucet in one of the upper rooms onto a clayey soil underneath the building." The GAZETTE does not believe in suppressing the news, especially when the lives of three or four hundred children are at stake, and the public will always be informed when danger threatens the lives of their children.

An Acceptable Citizen.

Professor A. L. Anthony and his family of Lake county, has come to Berkeley to reside and will take a pedagogical course in the University. For the past three years he has been teaching school and editing a newspaper.

Previous to his coming to Berkeley, his Lake county friends and pupils gave him a surprise party at which they expressed their regret at his departure. The Lower Lake Bulletin says "Mr. Anthony has been with us but three years, yet during that time he has done much to build up our school, and has been an earnest and faithful worker in the cause of Education. It is with regret that we loose so efficient an instructor as Professor Anthony, but our loss will probably be his gain, as he thinks he has an opportunity to better his condition, hence he resigned his position as principal of our school and goes with his family to Berkeley."

IT IS UNWISE

to pay more for your goods than you have to pay. The things we offer each week in this paper are to let you get an idea of how much too much you are paying for goods. To let you know where you can do better than you are now doing. To help you get up a big healthy discontent with credit prices.

There's no enjoyment in paying big prices for supplies, but some people hold on to it as though it was a fine thing to do.

You get lots of good goods for a little good money (silver or gold) of us, and you can get your money back if our goods are not right. There, how does that suit you.

CARRY THEIR EGGS.

The Nest of the Albatross and Some Others Is Where They Sit Down—An Island In the Antarctic Regions—The Experience of Anderson.

Some time ago a small party of explorers landed on one of the apparently barren islands just on the borders of the antarctic regions and found it inhabited by a remarkable colony of birds that ranged from large Mother Carey like birds to penguins of all kinds and degrees. The island was fairly covered with the feathered inhabitants, and, as the boat ran on to a rock that apparently afforded a landing, the birds, instead of moving away, seemed determined to resent the intrusion and stood their ground, viciously attacking the men, who, though they knocked the birds aside with clubs and oars, made no appreciable inroad upon their numbers.

The party then formed a compact body, and armed with boathooks to push the shrieking throng aside, moved up what apparently was a street here and there dotted with singular stool-like objects about 3 feet in width, larger at the top. These were the nests of the albatross, and, as the men were especially desirous of obtaining a set of eggs, they observed the nests very carefully; but in every instance the bird when approached shuffled clumsily away, and no eggs were found, though the birds were supposed to be sitting upon them.

Finally a nest was found containing an egg, but just as the men drew near the bird alighted and took her place upon it, eying them with suspicion and uttering a curious half hissing sound. They watched her for a few moments and then forced her from the nest, when, to their amazement, the egg had disappeared as completely as though it had been swallowed up. The nest was examined closely and finally torn apart, the men thinking that possibly the egg might have slipped into it in some mysterious way, but without success.

One of the party attempted to catch an albatross, and while he was following the bird in a ludicrous chase over the stubble an egg suddenly appeared, dropped by the running bird, which had all the time been carrying it, not under her wing, as she is supposed to do at sea by superstitious sailors, but in a peculiar sack in the skin provided by nature for this very purpose.

The albatross is famed for its power of flight, following vessels hundreds of miles. Yet when nesting it apparently forgets that it has wings, as it can be handled and pushed about in the nest, making no attempt to fly or move unless driven away by blows. This may be due to the fact that the egg is held in the curious sack and the bird instinctively knows that it cannot fly off with it; so it resists.

This sly bird is called the molly mauk. And its cousin, the great albatross, has a similar habit, the egg, which is five inches in length, almost as large as that of a swan, being held in a perfect incubating pouch.

On Marion island the explorers found the great king penguin—a bird which stands half as high as a man, with its bill pointing directly upward instead of out, as with other birds. As they landed and approached the singular creatures, which had been standing about, they hopped away slowly, but not an egg could be found, a set of which was the object of the visit.

The birds had a peculiar movement. Instead of walking and moving one foot after the other, or alternately, they held them close together and hopped. This excited the laughter of the men, who finally toppled a bird over, whereupon the egg rolled out upon the sand.

The king penguin was also an egg carrier, not only holding it while standing still, but carrying the big egg about with it by placing it in a pouch for the purpose, holding it in with the broad webbed feet that are kept closely together. This explained the curious hopping motion of the birds, as they could not move their feet without dropping the egg, but the moment one was forced to give up the prize it ran away, using both feet, like ordinary birds.

This remarkable habit does away with the necessity of a nest, as the bird carries its egg with it as it moves about. In these instances the birds rarely transport the egg to a great distance. If undisturbed, they probably remain about a certain locality, but there are birds which have been known to transport their eggs from one place to another, literally flying away with them. When Audubon first heard this story of the nighthawk, called Chuck Will's widow, he thought it a story of the negroes. Some insisted that the bird carried the egg away under its wing; others that it rolled the egg over the ground. To determine the truth Audubon concealed himself in the woods under a nest, having first handled the eggs, and waited to see what the old bird would do. The first bird to arrive appeared very dejected at the discovery that the secret home had been found, ruffling up its feathers and uttering a moaning cry just audible to the listener. Then the mate arrived, and, after various movements indicative of alarm, each bird took an egg in its capacious mouth and flew softly away.

Le Vaillant, the French naturalist, also discovered goatsucker of the Cape of Good Hope carrying off its eggs in the same manner—a comparatively easy feat, as the mouth of all these birds is very capacious, a veritable trap where the jaws are opened for the various insects upon which they feed in the dusk between day and night.

Many birds carry their young short distances, as the woodcock, which has been seen carrying off a little one between the claws, while it is well known that the wood duck carries its young down from the nest in trees to the water, using her bill for the purpose.—Philadelphia Times.

AN IMPRESSION.

A wind swept sky,
The waste of moorland stretching to the west,
The sea, low moaning in a strange unrest—
A sea gull's cry.

Washed by the tide,
The rocks lie sullen in the waning light;
The foam breaks in long strips of hungry white,
Dissatisfied.

Thunderous calm of drought that kills and sears;
Silence, in travail, waiting birth of tears—
No conscious sound.

Only the stir
Of some small insect life within the land;
The lapping of the waves upon the sand,
A cornerake's whir.

Upon the hill
The gorse seems thirsting for the rain; afar,
Low poised in the horizon line, one star
Shines, lonely still.

WHAT THEY EAT IN EGYPT.

Kabob and Green Cakes Form an Epicurean Meal For Five Cents.

Margherita Arlina Hamm, a clever writer on the New York Mail and Express, says that every country has its own little delicacies, and the British soldiers who pour into Egypt undoubtedly buy from the street hawkers the green cakes, and possibly the kabobs, for which the land of the Nile is famous.

The kabob is broiled meat, but is broiled in so ridiculous a fashion as to be really funny. The peddler uses a little charcoal furnace, something like those in use by our plumbers. In it he keeps up a small but hot fire. Attached to the side of the furnace is a lot of iron skewers. When a customer approaches, the hawker takes a small piece of meat, mutton or goat, the latter being the most popular, cuts it with a sharp knife into a long ribbon, winds it around the skewer and places it over the charcoal fire. Some of the drippings are collected, and, with a little salt or salt and spice, makes a pleasant sauce for the kabob when it is done. The cooking is very rapid. What with the heat of the fire and the thinness of the meat, it is thoroughly done in two or three minutes.

The green cakes are nothing more or less than small wheaten cakes mixed with chopped green leaves of various kinds salted and baked in a slow oven. They are pale yellow, yellow gray and brownish gray, with irregular splashes of green on both the upper and lower surfaces. They are said to be very nourishing, and they are certainly very appetizing and palatable when fresh from the oven. Almost any kind of green leaf which is used as human food serves for making a green cake. The humble cabbage and the historic petit pois vert, the watermelon rind and the celery top, the string bean and even the asparagus tip have been used for the purpose. In addition to the nutritious leaf there is nearly always a flavoring leaf. The commonest is parsley, and after this comes fennel, fenugreek, sorrel, bay and laurel.

The green cake of the market varies from 2 to 4 inches in width, but is rarely more than a quarter of an inch thick. About one-half are made by bakers and one-half by the women of the working classes.

Rastus' Birthday.

In the northern part of Georgia I came upon a negro cabin, and, as I approached, it became evident that some extraordinary commotion was going on within. In fact, shouts and yells of terror succeeded one another so rapidly that I hastened to see what could be the trouble.

As I drew rein before the door half a dozen ragged pickaninnies ran out. All but one of them were screaming and crying at the tops of their voices, while the odd one, as merry as the others were sad, began tumbling cartwheels and standing on his head. At this moment a man, evidently the head of the household, appeared in the doorway, and in answer to my inquiries gave me the following explanation of the mystery:

"Yer see, sah, dis is 'Rastus' birfday," indicating the one whose joyful antics I have just mentioned. "Now, I'ze powerful hard up jes' at presen' an didn't hab no money ter celebrate in de usual way. An it jes' bruk me all up ter see de res' habin jes' as much fun on 'Rastus' birflay as 'Rastus was habin hisself. Aunty Kruger.

Mrs. Kruger, the wife of President Kruger of the Transvaal, who is an extremely homely woman, does nearly all her own housework, cooking meals, making her own bed, and always takes a hand in the family washing. When her husband has "state guests" to dinner the good lady will trust the task of waiting on the table to no one, and, donning a white apron, she performs the office of butler. Her husband has a private fortune of $25,000,000, but it's "Aunty" Kruger's boast that they live on their "coffee money"—a perquisite of $2,000 a year allowed them by the government.

Changes In Pronunciation.

It requires no very profound knowledge of English literature to ascertain that the pronunciation of the language has undergone a vast change during the last three centuries. The shrewd conjecture has, indeed, more than once been hazarded that the works of the Elizabethan dramatist would be unintelligible to a modern audience if the native and original pronunciation were adhered to, and certainly, at all events, it is that in many well known passages of Shakspeare the very rhythm of the line comparatively demands a strange and unaccustomed accentuation of certain words. With the peculiarities of a later period most people are sufficiently acquainted. That gold was goold and that china was chaney during the Augustan era is matter of common knowledge. And who can forget Pope's description of Atticus:

Dreading even fools, by flatterers besieged,
And so obleeging that he ne'er obleeged?

The last mentioned mode, as well as the two others, lingered on well into the present century and was habitual with Lord John Russell, though they are all, probably, by this time as rare as Rooshia for Russia and rarer than Spaw for Spa.—Chambers' Journal.

A Humbugging Story.

The story of the plot to capture William Penn first appeared in the United States more than 25 years ago. It has been contradicted over and over again, but it still reappears periodically in the newspapers. It is nothing less than a miserable forgery, intended to deceive the public either for the purpose of putting its credulity to a test or of creating a prejudice against the early founders of New England. The name of Mr. Judkins is entirely unknown at this library. No such chest of old papers as is alleged to have been deposited in the archives of the society has ever been received and no such person as the one said to have made the deposit is known to the members. At the date of the document Cotton Mather was only 19 years old, which fact alone would be presumptive evidence that he was not connected with any such piratical scheme. Furthermore, I doubt whether the word "scampo" was in use at that period.—Notes and Queries.

Some Gigantic Crystals.

If you are a fancier of mineral specimens, you probably treasure one or more three or four inch crystals and fondly imagine that they are of unusual size. As common cabinet specimens go, they are certainly large enough, but as compared with real large mineral crystals they are as a mouse compared with an elephant. At the town of Grafton, N. H., they find the largest crystals known to the geologists and mineralogists. How large do you suppose those giants are? One, two or three feet long? Well, I guess so. A single specimen from that locality taken to Boston and deposited in the museum of the Society of Natural History weighed nearly 2¼ tons! Another, found at the same place, is the largest crystal in the world, so far as is known. It is a perfect six sided prism, having a circumference of 12 feet. Three weeks' labor by two men was expended in exposing this giant of the mineral kingdom. The crystal is of beryl, and, according to estimates made by experienced quarrymen, weighs not less than five tons.—St. Louis Republic.

When Holmes Was In London.

I had to give more than $2 for a pit ticket and had hardly room to stand up, almost crowded to death. The Duchess of Kent and the Princess Victoria—a girl of 15 and heir to the throne—came in first on the side opposite the king's box. The audience applauded somewhat—not ferociously. The princess is a nice fresh looking girl, blond and rather pretty. The king looks like a retired butcher. The queen is much such a person in aspect as the wife of the late William Frost of Cambridge, an excellent plain milkman, now probably immortalized on a slab of slatestone as a father, a husband and a brother. The king blew his nose twice and wiped the royal perspiration repeatedly from a face which is probably the largest uncivilized spot in England. * * * I have a disposition to tartness and levity which tells to the disadvantage of the royal living and the plebeian defunct, but it is accidental and must be forgiven.—"Life and Letters of Oliver Wendell Holmes."

To Read—To Sleep.

It is difficult to sympathize with the habit of early morning reading in bed. It is, however, quite excusable for a man to remain in bed to breakfast, if he wants to look through the most unwieldy of his folio volumes, for, as every wise man's son knows, there is no place so convenient as the "land of counterpane" for spreading out a bulky book upon, nor any vantage ground so good as that of the bolster acclivities from which to look down upon the broad expanses of its pages. Such an unwieldy volume as a folio can only be satisfactorily wrestled with in this way. Also this plan saves that perilous strain on the binding of a heavy book which takes place when it is balanced on the cramped knees of a chair seated man; it prevents, too, the sudden, but certain, nip in the back which is sure to seize the student sooner or later as he leans over the library table in search of facts among the tall pages of a folio volume. Humiliating, too, the attitude of a student who should be found to have fallen asleep, face downward, in the middle of half a row of folios.—Notes and Queries.

Sweeping.

Upon her wings presents the god unshorn.
See how Aurora throws her fair
Fresh quilted colors through the air.
Get up, sweet slug-a-bed, and see
The dew bespangled herb and tree.

So Herrick shouts to us, and, once up, how impossible it should be to remain longer inside the walls of the still slumbering house!—Temple Bar.

A young couple, evidently from the country, were walking down Regent street one day, apparently looking for something very much in particular. At last they stopped before a large jeweler's window, in which were displayed a number of wedding rings. They stood by the window for a few moments, discussing some urgent question, the big, clumsy looking fellow, who measured about 6 feet, apparently hesitating.

"Go on, George," said the girl, who scarcely reached his elbow. "What's the use of backing out, now you've got so far?"

"I don't half like to, Mary," he replied. "That slick looking fellow in there is sure to grin at me."

"What difference, does it make whether he laughs or cries?" exclaimed the girl. "If you haven't the pluck, I'll go myself."

"That's it, Mary," was the response. "If you'll do the asking, I'll come with you and look on."

Followed by her bashful lover, the little woman marched boldly in and chose the wedding ring, while her swain twirled his hat, blushed and looked on. As they left, the shopman gazed after them with a thoughtful air and remarked:

"I admire Mary's pluck, but I shouldn't care to be George ten years from now."—Pearson's Weekly.

Plaintiff,

Shot Into the Senate.

James Shields was elected to the senate in 1848, defeating his predecessor, Senator Breese. Shields had distinguished himself in the Mexican war and at the battle of Cerro Gordo he was shot through the lungs, the ball passing out at his back. His recovery was one of the marvels of the day. Shield's war record is believed to have secured to him his triumph over Breese. When the news of Shields' election was received, a lawyer named Butterfield was speaking of it to a group of friends, when one of them remarked, "It was that Mexican bullet that did the business." "Yes," retorted Butterfield, "that was a great shot. The ball went clear through Shields without hurting him and killed Breese 1,000 miles away."—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Dagget-Ramey-Lanigan push captured the Democratic Congressional Convention of the Fifth District, which was held at Redwood City yesterday. James A. Beary editor of the San Francisco Star and Thomas J. Clunie were the strong candidates for the nomination for Congress, but they found out in the first ballot that their chances were nit, and when the second ballot was announced they packed their little grips and took the first train for San Francisco, for the Convention had nominated J. P. Kelly who became notorious two years ago for his connection with the street sweeping contract "sack" after he had then received the nomination for Congress, and had to be pulled down by the Democratic State Central Committee. Clunie and Barry are now engaged in sharpening their knives and if Kelly escapes them it will be by a miracle.

Are You in the Swim.

Allendale Tract.—Shakespeare has well said "The tide when taken at its flood leads on to fortune." We now offer you the flood tide, fine building lots at less than half their value, situated in Fruitvale the garden spot of Oakland, no fogs or cold winds. Save taxes water rates and monthly rent. This tract lays level, with a grand view and is a lovely site for a home, two electric roads and a magnificent school house near by, there are now five cottages located on the premises and more coming. The road on its way to Livermore passes through the tract, there are still some lots left. Over 280 lots have already been sold to the present time. Secure one or more lots before they are all sold. Terms $5.00 cash and $5.00 monthly. The lots are in shape to build with street well graded and the main avenue on which the electric road passes is macadamized. This is a rare opportunity, call at 468 Ninth street between Broadway and Washington streets, H. Z. Jones, owner.

In the matter of the railroad assessment the reduction was made upon the showing by members of the State Board of Equalization that they were the proper persons to assess the property and that it was not in the province of the County Assessor.

The County Board of Equlization have finished their labors, and have reduced the Assessors's figures about $2,000,000, mostly on franchises and bank stocks and on the railroads tracks of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. After a careful study of the facts the Board concluded that they could not tax franchises which in most cases were valueless as more than one party were granted them.

Penniless Miners.

Seattle July 21.—About 100 penniless Cooks Inlet gold hunters have found their way back to land, food and civilization by the steamships Al-ki and Williamette. They arrived to-day [illegible] miners at Sitka and Juneau, awaiting an opportunity to return to the States, while perhaps thrice that number are making their way into Yukon. One little vessel, so the Willapa reports, on a single trip brought out 82 miners from the Turn Again arm to Juneau [illegible] ful failure. It was clearly and obviously so to anybody who saw any considerable part of it, even if he were ordinarily a bad judge of such things, and Stetson was not a bad judge. He had secured the rights to the opera for New England, and he had paid a good deal of money for them. He went to the New York on the first night to see and hear what his property looked and sounded like. After the first act he strolled into the lobby and somebody heard him mutter: "Gondoliers? 'Gondoliers?' H'm! Gone dollars!"—New York Tribune.

Some Men Have Luck.

Returning to Paris from Brazil after 30 years' absence, with 300,000 francs in his bag, M. Georges H. took a cab home. He called at a friend's house, entered for a moment and returned to find the cab gone with his bag and his money. M. H. prepared to return to Brazil to make another 300,000 francs, but en route called at a prefecture of police. Here they handed him his money, with apologies from the cabman.

It appears that while M. H. was in the house the driver went to sleep. While the driver was asleep the horse, getting bored, moved on round several corners, and the cabman on waking could not remember where he had come from. Therefore he drove off to the police station.—Paris Messenger.

STORIES OF STETSON.

An Ignorance Whose Depth and Breadth Made It Highly Entertaining—Stetson Was a Source of Fun Outside of Theatrical Circles as Well as Within Them.

There is a man born now and then with a vein of humorous silver in his mouth. Uninterrupted good fortune as a humorist smiles on him through life, and that, too, with no seeming effort of his own. He somehow acquires an early reputation for saying or doing funny things which once gained, nothing can take away. All the jokes in his line of his generation, and often some of earlier and later generations, are credited to him, and nobody cares to dispute the honor. Collectors of jokes are ready to accept Joe Miller as Joe Miller, but no literary scholar believes that he originated all the jests in his alleged book. Anybody can think for himself of two or three similar examples in the present half century, and, even so, it is not likely that John Stetson ever really said all or half the amusing things that were attributed to him. They were good stories, some of them, and they were told of Stetson, just as the story of fiddling while Rome burned was told of Nero, not because they were true, but to show what kind of man Stetson was.

The stories which it was thought proper to fix upon John Stetson were those which exhibited any broad, comprehensive and picturesque ignorance. He was an ignorant man no doubt—ignorant enough, perhaps, to say all the things that it was ever said that he said, but the chances are that he did not say them all. But the stories are none the worse for that. Years ago Sophocles—"Œdipus Tyrannus" was played by the students of Harvard college and excited great comment throughout the country. It was discussed one evening at a dinner at which Stetson was present, and he cheered the company by announcing that he had contracted with Sophocles for the writing of a new play to be produced by him the following season.

This story belongs in the same class as a somewhat more elaborate one. Stetson once took possession of a new theater and discovered in the lobby a picture that did not meet his artistic taste. "Take that picture down," he said.

"Michael who?" said Stetson.

"Michael Angelo."

"Well, take it down," said Stetson, "and discharge Angelo. I won't have any of these foreign scene painters around my theater; I'm going to employ Americans."

This so amused those who heard it that they at once told the incident to friends of Stetson and themselves, and among them was Jack Haverly, the famous negro minstrel manager. Haverly did not laugh when he heard it, but simply looked puzzled. He thought for a few moments, and then a faint smile came into his face, and he said, "Oh, yes, I see; there ain't no such person as Michael Angelo!"

This answer was thought good enough to take back to Stetson, who, it was assumed, must have taken pains in the meantime to inform himself of the history of art sufficiently to understand it.

"What do you think Stetson?" said his friend. "We have told Jack Haverly what you said about Michael Angelo, and he said, 'Oh, I see; there ain't no such person as Michael Angelo!'"

Stetson looked blank in his turn for a moment and then received his own little illumination as to the humor of the thing. "Why, the ignorant old fool," he said, "of course he ought to have said, 'There isn't any such person as Michael Angelo.'"

This story again recalls another with a similar touch in it. The conversation once turned on a clever passage in W. J. Florence's old play, "The Mighty Dollar," in which Bardwell Slote exposes his ignorance by referring to a hackman whom he had encountered in Venice. "Yes," said Stetson, "that is clever; of course they don't have hacks in Venice; it's such a slow place they don't have anything but omnibuses and mule carts." This fable found its way into print again only a few weeks before Mr. Stetson's death.

"What do you think of So-and-so?" Stetson asked of a friend, naming one of the actors of his company. He meant to ask what his friend thought of the way the actor was playing the part in which he was then engaged, but the friend supposed that he meant to ask what manner of man he thought him. So he answered, "He's well enough, only he seems to me to be a little too pedantic."

This struck Stetson as a good word, and he stored it up in his memory for future use. A few days later, when he met the actor, he said, "I was in front watching you last night and thought you didn't play that part quite as pedantic as you usually do."

Sometimes Mr. Stetson's expressions amounted to epigrams. It will be remembered that when Gilbert and Sullivan [illegible] "Gondoliers" [illegible]

The Trail of Slang.

It is astonishing how the children pick up slang. No matter how select the neighborhood or how careful the parents the bywords of the street are sure to drop when least expected from infantile lips.

A day or two ago a 4-year-old daughter of east end parents was being escorted along East Prospect street by her doting papa, when they met a little boy of the same age escorted by his papa. Both papas are well acquainted and they stopped to chat for a moment or two.

"It's Edward," promptly answered Miss Mabel.
